Course design and evaluation methods for all courses will be in accordance with Faculty of Science and Department of Psychology regulations, as well as the Memorial University Calendar.

Course Title: PSYC 3900 Design and Analysis III

Course Schedule: Slot 17 TR 900-1015 (subject to change)

Campus Location: St. John's Campus, In Person

Course Description: PSYC 3900 Design and Analysis III is a course that will develop students' statistical literacy, critical thinking, and their ability to design and analyze professional-quality research in psychology. Topics covered include fundamental univariate statistical tests and emphasizes multiple regressions and linear modelling. Concepts and theory are covered in class while laboratory exercises develop student independence by working through published datasets. For further information regarding this course please visit www.mun.ca/psychology

Qualifications: (1) A demonstrated knowledge of psychology and of the specific topics noted in the course description; (2) an M.Sc. in psychology; and (3) demonstrated experience conducting research and publishing in peer-reviewed psychology journals are required. Preference will be given first to applicants who have previously taught PSYC 3900 on the St. John's campus, and secondarily to applicants who have previous experience teaching the equivalent of PSYC 3900 elsewhere.
